This stunning 911 Carrera 3.2, finished in the 'Paint to Sample' colour Prussian Blue Metallic, impresses both visually and technically with its outstanding condition. This 1985 model features the popular and powerful 231 hp engine, which guarantees driving pleasure and enjoyment.

Please read on to find out more about the condition and history of this superb example from the 911 G-model series.

This vehicle was delivered on 2 May 1985 by Porsche Gramling in Karlsruhe (now the Porsche Centre Karlsruhe) and registered by the dealership itself on the very same day, before being re-registered shortly afterwards by an optician in nearby Waghäusel. After several further changes of ownership over the years, the vehicle entered the collection of the current owner in Stuttgart in 2017, who has now owned the vehicle for a good nine years. The entire ownership history – exclusively in Germany – is documented by the previous vehicle registration documents.

The vehicle comes with the original owner's handbook, including the owner's manual and original service booklet. Since the vehicle has been in the current owner's possession, it has been regularly serviced and age-related repairs have been consistently carried out. The most extensive work was a complete engine overhaul in 2019. All invoices are included in the vehicle's documentation.

In previous years, the 911 was completely repainted in its original delivery colour, Prussian Blue Metallic (PTS Code L999), which harmonises beautifully with the contemporary blue leather interior. The vehicle also has an H-licence plate and is fitted with air conditioning.
