Porsche 991.2 GT3 RS:

The first vehicles of the 991 GT3 were photographed at the beginning of December 2011. Like the 996 and 997 GT3 models, the 991 GT3 released in 2013 also had a fixed rear wing on the engine cover, as well as front and rear skirts specially made for the model. Another characteristic design feature that was retained was the exhaust pipes positioned in the centre below the number plate holder, as on the 997 GT3 V models produced between 2006 and 2011. The GT3 RS was finally launched on the market in May 2015.

In 2018, the GT3 RS received a facelift and was renamed the 991.2 GT3 RS. The facelift from the 991.1 GT3 RS to the 991.2 GT3 RS not only included an increase in maximum power from 500 hp to 520 hp, but also a change to the front and rear spoiler and better ventilation of the front brakes, among other things.

The vehicle:

If you are looking for a well-maintained vehicle with special features, a complete service history and full documentation, then this 991.2 GT3 RS is the car for you! Delivered in June 2018, the vehicle is still in 1st hand. All inspections were carried out at the Porsche Centre Pforzheim at the specified intervals. In addition to the entries in the service booklet, all receipts/invoices and inspection reports are also available.

The vehicle also has an extensive range of optional extras. In addition to the PCCB ceramic brake system and the lift system on the front axle, this also includes the special leather interior in black lizard green, which gives the GT3 RS a special "racing touch". The vehicle has not yet clocked up any race track kilometres. Nevertheless, the front section of the vehicle has been completely covered in stone chip protection film in order to protect the paintwork from external environmental influences in the best possible way. The current condition of the paintwork speaks for itself.

Furthermore, the Akrapovic slip-on race exhaust system, which is very popular among Porsche enthusiasts, is currently installed and provides a throaty sound. The original mufflers are of course still present and are part of the vehicle.

All documents, papers, the complete on-board folder and extras such as the fire extinguisher and 6-point seat belts are present.

With this GT3 RS, you will soon be the hero of the streets!
